Rev. Mr. and Mrs. D. Eby in Constantinople

The following letter has just been received by Mrs. Hemington from Mrs. (Rev.) D. Eby, telling of their experiences during the terrible time Mr. and Mrs. Eby were in Hadjin.

This letter throws a lurid light on conditions as they exist in that benighted country and their many friends in this district will be extremely glad that they escaped without injury so far.

Constantinople, July 2.

Dear Loved Ones:

Have I really an opportunity to write to you at last? I have not had a chance to post a letter since the middle of March, and now that we have arrived in Constantinople today I can scarcely make myself believe that I really can write, and that it will ever reach you.

Where shall I begin? First let me tell you that we are both safe and well. The last time I wrote to you the Hadjin people were badly scared, but we did not think the war would really ever come to Hadjin, but Mustafa Kemal's party came and attacked Hadjin, and we were under fire from the last of March until the middle of June. I can tell you very little of those awful days in one letter, but will write it up bit by bit for the Banner, if there is no censorship on.

I am just going to write a short letter today and post it. Tomorrow I will write more details and post another letter.

The first week we were in the Armenian front lines. Then they had to retreat into the city, so we all went up to the American Board compound so that we would be all together with Miss Cold, Miss Charles and the Red Cross nurses, Miss Sower. It was quiet on that side, but the very next day the Turks came down and opened fire on the city from that side. Two days later April 5, they captured the compound. We made peace with them and returned a live with them on all sides of us for ten weeks, and although we were constantly under suspicion and were at their back and call day and night, we managed to exist and the villagers were bringing us food.

The Armenians in the city were in constant terror lest the brigands carry off our girls, so at 3 o'clock on Wednesday morning, June 10, they came out and captured our compound, driving away the Turks, and took the whole family of three hundred souls into Hadjin. They wanted to take us too, but we refused to go as we were neutral and could not take sides. They thought the Turks would kill us, and we thought they might, too, but there was nothing for us to do but risk it. In three days the Armenians left, so we put up the white flag and on Sunday morning the Turks came down and took the compound again. The villagers were friendly but some of the most wicked bandit chiefs were not. However one of these wicked men, whom we had treated when sick and saved his life, now appeared on the scene, and saved our lives. They burned the Missionary

"Ala, I thought you would, McTavish. Says I to Smythe this morning! 'Smythe, it doesn't seem to me that this is a very good piece of business judgment on our part; but,' says I, 'Smythe, we must consider others rather than ourselves in this matter.' McTavish, now," says I, "has a couple of youngsters growing up, and they should secure an education such the Clearview school can give them, and if that's the case, we can't blind our eyes to our duty as Christian men! Smythe is a good Christian man and just that sort-hearted that it's not his fault that he's affected him. He says: 'Mr. Watson, money is not everything. Go forth on an errand of mercy, and offer Mr. McTavish of Bushwhackers' Place one bright and fertile hundred acres of loan in Clearview in exchange for his bit of wilderness.' Now, McTavish, So I wrote you briefly in order to break the good news gently, and now I am before you to perform an act which, believe me, gives me as much pleasure in a sense, as it does you. I have all the necessary papers, and although the journey is a trying one, I will not complain. I have been five hours in the saddle and have endured a cowardly nigger as guide as far as the Triple Elms. Seems, like between loneliness and mosquitoes, I'm just about fagged out. They are a mean thing they are a hanged nuisance, mosquitoes."

While his guest unbundled himself, Big McTavish stepped strong tea, and fried strips of bacon. Gloss had not yet returned from the spring. The savory smell of the frying meat whiffed at Watson's appetite, and he needed no second invitation to "set up and eat hearty." He ate wolfishly, his little eyes darting from his food to the face of McTavish, his heavy jaws working, and the muscles of his throat contracting with box-like elasticity, as he gulped down huge mouthfuls of meat and bread. At last he pushed his chair back from the table and wiped his mouth on the back of his hand.

"Now, Mac," he said softly, "we'll just have you sign those papers, and I'll turn you over this deed I hold here in exchange for the one you now have. Says I to Smythe this morning! 'Smythe, it's a nice sort of glove, a fellow feels after doing a worthy act, anyway. Think what this will mean to the McTavishes.' And do you know he was the self-satisfied he couldn't answer not, and stood there swallowing with tears in his eyes."

"I'm thinkin' that we won't make any swap," said Big McTavish quietly. "Neither me nor Boy nor any of us care to have this big woods. We've been here so long we've grown into it somehow. You see we're not bankin' to leave."

Watson sat up with a jerk, and the pipe he was filling fell to the floor and broke into a dozen pieces.

"What?" he cried, "do you mean to say, McTavish, that you won't deal?"

"That's what I mean," roared the big man.

"And you won't change this block of tangled brush for one hundred acres of good, cultivated land?" Mr. Watson leaned forward. "Are you sure you realize what you are missing?" he asked impressively.

"All I know is, we're thankful to God for what we have now," said Big McTavish fervently. "We don't feel like insultin' Him by tradin' what He's given us, right and unseen."

"Oh, come now, McTavish," blustered Watson, "you must be crazy. Why, man, you will never get another chance such as the one we offer you. Besides, you can't stay here very much longer, anyway. Of course, you've heard what Colonel Hallibut intends to do with you Bushwhackers?"

A deep line appeared between Big McTavish's eyes.

"We don't want any trouble with Colonel Hallibut," he said. "We hear that he has his eyes on our timber. When he comes after it he'll find us here. As for you, Mr. Watson, I wouldn't take your sand farm as a gift, thank you just the same!"

"Then why in hell have you been lettin' me waste my breath on you for the last hour?" snarled Watson, his face purple.

McTavish stood up.

"That'll do now," he warned. "There's Gloss comin' up the path, and he's a sensible fellow. He has never heard in this house, and before I'll have her hear you usin' cuss words I'll clean this down your throat, and then you forget it."

He lifted a hairy fist, then sat down and resumed his smoking.

Gloss entered the room, singing blithely. Her shapely arms were bare to the elbows. Her big gray eyes, dancing with life and health, swept the room and rested wonderingly on Watson. He in turn gazed at the girl, and an ashy whiteness wiped out the mottled color of his cheeks. He drew back whispering something under his breath.

"This is Mr. Watson, Gloss," said Big McTavish.

"Good-morning, sir," saluted the girl. "I didn't know that we had a visitor. I see uncle has got you breakfast, but surely you'll enjoy a glass of fresh buttermilk. I'll fetch it."

She slipped from the room, and Watson looked across at Big McTavish.

"That girl," he asked quietly, "is she your own child?"

The big man looked up, astonished, then wrote on his face.

"No," he answered, "but she's just as dear as though she was our own. Her dyin' mother sent her to us. Why do you ask that?"

Watson was reaching for his cap and rifle. Perhaps he did not hear the question. At any rate he did not reply.

Fifteen minutes later he mounted the weary gray horse and without so much as a word of adieu rode away through the timber.

The big man looked on the edge of the clearing, his long arms folded, and watched his visitor disappear. Turning, he found the dead child beside him.

"Well, Davie," he said kindly, "hadn't you best run home now, lad? You're all wet with the dew."

The boy waved his arms above his head and imitated an eagle's scream. Then he pointed to the white patch that marked the first blaze of the long trail.

"You mean the man on the white horse, Davie?" asked McTavish, smiling. "Yes, lad, I know."

The boy gazed about him with wide and expressive eyes. Then once more he waved his arms like an ascending eagle, gave a wild call of victory and defiance, and bending, sped swiftly away and was lost in the heavy shadow.

CHAPTER VII.

Where the Brock and the River Meet.

Big McTavish walked slowly back to the house. In the doorway stood Gloss awaiting him.

"Is he gone?" she asked.

"Yes, Gloss, he's gone."

McTavish picked up the ax which was leaning against the ash-block and turned toward the bush.

"You might just keep your eyes on the soap-fie, Gloss. I'm going down to the creek to cut some aspen for the 'grainin'—they seem all right. While I'm down there I might as well make some hawwood saplin' that'll make good sap-troughs. Promised myself last sugar-makin' that I'd have new troughs before another spring-bloomin'!"

"The potatoes must be about ready to dig," said the girl.

"Yes, Boy's over to Paisley's after a look, and when he gets back we're goin' to start in on 'em. There's this satisfaction about raisin' taters," he laughed, "—the squirrels and crows don't molest the crop any like they do the corn. It does seem we can't keep them out of the corn, though."

"It looks fine since you've got it out and shuckin' 'em," declared the girl; "and it does seem so good that we've gottin' such a nice piece of land cleared. Gran'my was tellin' me that that man who just left wanted to do, and I had to laugh when I thought how he could be so foolish to do that. We'd be ridin' to find Bushwhackers' Place. 'Why, Gran'my says I, 'what do we want of a farm in Clearview when we've got one right here?'"

The big man's face lit up.

Winner in Butter Contest

Results of Dominion Education Butter Scoring Contest For May

Saskatchewan wins first place in the Dominion education butter scoring contest for the month of May, is the information received by P. E. Reed, dairy commissioner for the province. The province also tied with Manitoba for second place.

Four creameries in each of the nine provinces of the Dominion are entered in the contest, the scoring being made on samples sent in each month from May to October inclusive. Two Saskatchewan creameries received the highest possible scores for workmanship. The Cudworth branch of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries scored highest with 97 points, and the same creamery's place tied with the Crescent Creamery company of Winnipeg for second place, with 96 points out of 100.

Newspaper Costs Still Mounting

The cost of the white paper on which newspapers are printed mounts steadily upward. The increased price which went into force on July 1st represents an added expense for Canadian publishers of not less than the huge sum of eight million dollars. In December, 1916, the price of newsprint was $46 a ton. Early this year it was $80. The new price is $110 a ton—an increase of $24 over the price prevailing up to 1916—more than 265 percent. For the last quarter of this year the price will be $130 a ton, 261 percent over the cost price of four years ago.

Emigrants from Britain

Every Part of Canada Will Benefit From the Influx

Every part of Canada is to benefit by the influx of Imperial ex-soldiers who are coming to the Dominion to settle on farms under the special scheme decided upon by the Imperial and Dominion governments last year. Those already selected by the Dominion representatives, W. E. Scott, former deputy minister of agriculture, British Columbia, and Russell Wilson of Saskatoon, will bring about a million dollars in cash, said Mr. Scott, at Halifax from the Cunard liner Caronia en route with Mr. Wilson to Ottawa where they will make an official report.

Of the thousands of applicants about 700 have been found suitable, during the stay in England of Messrs. Scott and Wilson. They are not the professional army officers type of men Mr. Scott said, but mostly were civilians before the war. They are sound and adaptable and come from York, Northumberland, Wales and Scotland, the best agricultural sections of the Old Land, and Mr. Scott declares they will adapt themselves to conditions here and make ideal farm settlers and citizens.

That Canada should get as many of this mass of settlers as possible is Mr. Scott's opinion, as Australia and New Zealand are going to send agents there this fall for the same kind of men and will offer his inducements. The two agents did not get a good slice of bread since they left Canada, they declared, Britain and many other parts of the world being short of wheat. Therefore they say there will be big prices for all the food produce Canada can export for years to come.

RUSSIA REFUSES TO CEASE WAR ON POLAND

CALLS IT A ROBBER WAR

Lenine Blames Britain and The League of Nations

For Trouble

London.—Refusal of the Russian Soviet government to cease war against Poland at the behest of Great Britain is contained in a Moscow wireless despatch. The refusal also constitutes an appeal to the workers and peasants of Soviet Russia and the Ukraine. It is signed by Premier Lenine, minister of war, Trotsky, the foreign minister, Tchitcherin and Kuroki, commissioners of justice and justice.

"The British government addressed a proposal to us, July 11, to cease war against Poland and begin peace negotiations with Poland and other border states, promising that the Polish troops would be withdrawn and in case of an armistice being signed will locate a frontier market last year at the peace conference.

"In the same note it was proposed that General Wrangel and his Crimean shelter should not be touched. To all this we, the council of peoples' commissaries, arrived at refusal. If England had desired this they would have stopped supplying Poland with munitions and money.

"Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, places it upon the League of Nations, in whose name he is making the proposal, but Poland enters into the composition of this league—Poland, who commenced a robber war against us.

"All the members of the league, especially France, England and the United States are bound hand in hand in this provocative war of Poland against Russia and the Ukraine. "Our refusal of hostile mediation does not mean that we have altered our policy towards Poland. Moscow more than once has proposed peace to Warsaw, and if she will now appeal to us directly, peaceful relations will be established between Russia and Poland, sooner, better and more substantially in this way."

The communication says the real frontiers which the Soviet government will establish with representatives of the Polish people will be east of the frontier marked out by "the Imperialists in London and Paris, who are equally hostile and hostile to the workers of Poland and Russia."

The communication declares: "Desires to receive an honest peace and an honest frontier and find in the person of Russia a brotherly neighbor, it is necessary that the Polish people should seek it."

Demonstration for Prince of Wales

Dramatic Scenes Enacted at Adelaide On Departure for Tasmania

Sydney, Australia.—The Prince of Wales has sailed for Tasmania. Extraordinary scenes of enthusiasm occurred when he departed from Adelaide. On Saturday the prince rode horses in several races at that city. He won the five-furlong sprint in the time of one minute and eight seconds.

Of all the demonstrations that have occurred in Australia, none was more dramatic than that when the prince addressed 6,000 women war workers. He asked them to treat him as a comrade, the same as the diggers have done.

As His Royal Highness left the hall he passed through cheering, weeping, flag-waving rows of women.

Secure Best Prices for Wheat

Don't Rush to Sell, Says Toronto World to Farmers

Toronto.—"There need be no great hurry to rush to sell under the prevailing conditions" is the advice of the Toronto World to Canadian farmers in regard to their wheat. "For the next three weeks," says the World, "the bulls and bears will be sending out contradictory reports of the yield, of blights, or rust, of the grain unripened, perhaps frozen wheat. In spite of all this the indications are of a big yield and high prices.

"And the farmers of Canada have better transportation in the way of railways, train equipment and a merchant marine, the best we ever had, than have the farmers of the states. We can sell and deliver wheat to them better than they can compete with us in Europe."

Irish Will Negotiate

London.—The Sinn Fein and the British government are prepared to discuss if they are not already discussing a basis of probable settlement of the Irish question, according to a statement recorded by the Daily Mail's Dublin correspondent.

The alarming increase of violence in Ireland, the correspondent says, is frightening the responsible leaders of the Irish Republican party, many of whom appear to be inclined to listen to any generous offer from Downing street, but it is understood the home rule bill, now being considered by parliament, must first be shelved before the leaders will enter into negotiations.

Russell to Remain in Durance

No Clemency to Winnipeg Strike Leader in Immediate Future

Ottawa.—A formal application for clemency, it is stated, has not yet been made in the case of R. B. Russell, chief of the Winnipeg strike leaders, who appealed without success to the Imperial privilege council against his sentence of two years' imprisonment. While no official announcement has been made, it is not considered likely that there will be an exercise of clemency in the immediate future.

Interstate Commerce Commission to Be Asked for Substantial Increase

Washington.—Freight and passenger transportation in the United States are to bear a substantial portion of the rate to be asked by the railroads of the interstate commerce commission to offset the $600,000,000 added expense caused by the labor board's wage award, it was announced by A. H. Thom, general counsel for the association of railway executives.

TO PROSECUTE DEFAULTERS OF INCOME TAX

PROSECUTIONS SIMPLIFIED

Willful Defaulters of Federal Tax May Find a Ride Awakening

Ottawa.—Revenue from income taxation this year is expected to total $40,000,000. While this is not in excess of last year, it is attributable to the fact that the measure of excess profits is not nearly as large now as was the case in 1916, when the collections were based on the last year of the war.

An amendment made to the act this year simplifies the prosecution of defaulters and it was announced today that there will be extensive prosecutions of delinquents, failure to make a return and the subsequent registration of a notice to the party is sufficient proof under the new act to secure conviction.

Winnipeg.—A special despatch to the Free Press from its Ottawa correspondent states that the new act willful defaulters from federal income taxation may find a ride awakening from the slumber of security into which a recent lull in prosecution has rocked them. Even now the office of commissioner of taxation is receiving a long list of the prescribed and police court proceedings throughout the Dominion will be varied during the coming weeks by prosecutions against other than ordinary offenders against the law. In the past prosecutions have been brought with some difficulty and expenses, witnesses were required. Under the amendments to the act passed last session, however, a registered letter is sent to the defaulter notifying him to make his return. If he fails to do so an affidavit is made out to the effect that the return has not been made. The fact of registration coupled with the affidavit is all that is required for prosecution and witnesses are not required. The chief reason for the lull in prosecutions recently is the fact that the department has been awaiting the facilitation mentioned. Now it can and will go ahead. The person found guilty is subject to two penalties. In the first place delay beyond the prescribed time in putting in returns subjects him to an additional impost of 24 percent of his assessment. In the second place he is subject to the penalty imposed for willful default.

Will Secure Grave Photos
Ottawa.—Emphatic denial is given to a statement appearing that no more photographs of soldiers' graves would be supplied to relatives owing to a shortage of funds. At the militia department it was explained that a Canadian photographic staff is still maintaining overseas.

Every Canadian grave in France and Belgium is to be photographed and copies of the photograph in each case will be sent automatically to the next of kin through military headquarters at Ottawa.

Britain Leads in Shipping

Total Tonnage Exceeds the Amount Under Construction in United States

London.—Total tonnage now building in the United Kingdom exceeds the amount under construction in the United States by 1,672,000 tons, according to returns published by Lloyd's Register of Shipping. The aggregate amount now under construction in Great Britain is 3,578,000 tons, the highest amount ever recorded.

Much comment has been aroused in shipping circles this year by the figures, says the London Times. But, it adds, the failure of the United States to maintain its lead in ship building was expected since the intensive construction there was chiefly a war measure.

Privy Council Decision Settles Matter

Remaining Strike Leaders Will Call Off Appeals Now

Winnipeg.—The decision of the privy council in Russell's case will be accepted as disposing of contemplated appeals on behalf of the other convicted Winnipeg labor leaders, it was intimated by James Law, secretary of the defence committee. Mr. Law said he had no word as yet from Mr. Trueman or from his London agents, but accepting the press report of the case as accurate, he intimated that there would be no appeal, which would of necessity have to be argued along lines similar to the Russell appeal.

Germany to Remain Neutral

Berlin.—An official statement was issued declaring Germany's complete neutrality in the situation arising from the hostilities between Russia and Poland. The statement was signed by president Ebert and Minister Simons.

News of the Provinces

Winnipeg.—The settlers' fund for the purpose of populating arable land in Canada has received contributions totalling $900,000 to date, Mayor N. A. Brown, Medicine Hat, reported to the executives of the Western Canada Colonization association at a meeting here.

Brandon.—James Boden of Lacombe, Alta., was awarded grand champion and junior champion in the Ayrshire classes at the provincial exhibition here.

Winnipeg.—Six carloads of the 1920 wool crop have already been shipped from the provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Three cars were shipped from Regina and three from points in Manitoba. The total weight of these shipments was about 150,000 pounds.

SASKATCHEWAN

Regina.—The largest farm deal of the year in this area was transacted during the week when a section and a quarter of land of the Corrigan estate south of Pense was sold for $100 per acre including the crop. The total purchase price was $112,000.

Saskatoon.—Discovery of a black substance thought to be of a coal or oil base has been made on the river bank three miles away. Samples have been sent to Winnipeg and several claims filed. The substance burns with a red flame and develops considerable heat.

Regina.—To boost the standard of production in livestock and keep the farmer in touch with the experimental, Saskatchewan agricultural societies are planning to spend $500,000 this year. The societies now have a membership of 20,000.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Victoria.—There are now in operation considerably more than 25,000 automobiles in British Columbia.

MAY APPOINT NEW MINISTER IN LONDON

CANADIAN REPRESENTATIVE

Some Difficulty May Be Found In Filling the Position Now Occupied by Perley

Winnipeg.—A special despatch to the Free Press from its Ottawa correspondent reads:

No confirmation of the report that the status of Canada's federal representative in London is to be changed and that Sir George Perley is to be replaced by a resident minister, can be secured here for the reason that the premier is in Montreal, and there is nobody left behind who will take the responsibility of affiliation or denial.

The rumor is by no means new, in fact it has been current ever since Sir George Perley made it known over a year ago that he desired to retire from the high commissionership and return to his business in Canada.

The position appears to be about as hard to fill as that of Canadian representative at Washington. It differs from the latter in an important respect. It is essentially a trade position, which the other is diplomatic. The man upon whom the choice falls for the Washington postion may find himself at any time in full charge of the British embassy.

Sir George Foster's name has been mentioned many times for the London position, but Sir George is not a young man any longer, neither is he a man of very considerable means and youth and means are both required to grace the position. For the Washington position, Sir Robert Borden, Hon. N. W. Rowell, Mr. Lloyd Harris, and Mr. C. A. McGrath have all been mentioned in authoritative circles here. It is believed that the first two may be eliminated from the speculation entirely, though it is realized that Mr. Rowell in particular is eminently fitted for the position.

Plates running up to 27,000 are now being issued at the Victoria licensing office and Vancouver is working on a series culminating with 30,000.

Victoria.—According to a statement of the department of agriculture the acreage in the province devoted to potatoes will be 17,500 acres this year as against 18,000 acres last year. There is an increase in grain acreage, the estimates showing 46,800 acres sown to wheat, an increase of about 4,000 acres, 47,000 acres of oats as against 25,000 in 1919, and 145,000 acres of hay, clover and alfalfa, an increase of 5,000 acres.

Vancouver.—The total volume of British Columbia fruits sold in bulk to canneries, etc., in 1919, was equal to 2,668 carloads, being an increase of 1,300 carloads over 1918.

ALBERTA

Edmonton.—Another expedition to look for the bones of great prehistoric reptiles in the Red Deer Valley of Alberta has arrived under direction of Dr. W. A. Parks, of the University of Toronto. Many societies have undertaken excavations in this region in past summers, and some perfect specimens of the kolossaurus and incurmanus uncovered and taken away.

Edmonton.—Twenty million cubic feet of gas every 24 hours from the San Joaquin well in the Peace River is the report brought down from the north to this city. Telegraphic offices state that the flow is keeping up with undiminished force and volume. It is now being capped, and drilling operations continued to see where is a further search for oil.

Calgary.—Wool production is declared to be good by officials of the Canadian Co-Operative Wool Growers' Association who handle the greater part of the western clip. They are expected to run from fifteen to twenty-five cents per pound.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Eby in Constantinople

Home at the Kurdel and the other building are so riddled with bullets and ruined that they cannot be repaired. All the buildings at Sourp Sarkis, our own compound, were burned, except the barn which we used as a school and dormitory, and one little new building of two rooms for the sick.

The brigands brought us as far as Talas. There was no way to travel as trains were not running, but in two days a motor truck from the A.C.R.N.E. came along from Oolak Kushib. The boys from there were leaving, so we rode with them for four days, nearly four hundred miles to Sansoun, a port about the middle of the Black Sea; we were there for two days when a Russian tramp steamer came along and brought us to Constantinople. We just arrived today.

We have no definite plans yet. We hope to wait here for a month and see if things in the interior will quiet down enough to go back to Hadjin and try to find some of our people, if any are still alive. The city thought they could hold out another month, but were facing starvation. The intention of the chaos is to wipe out the whole city, or if any do escape to exile them, so unless the Lord saves them by a miracle the outlook is not very bright.

Mustafa Kemal's party has control of most of the interior. They will not call themselves chates, which means brigands. They are much like the Bobshviks.

We have cabled the Board asking for instructions. If the work cannot be reopened this fall we will be home with you soon. Even if we do reopen we are writing the Board that they must send some one to take our place for we cannot stand it much longer. The strain of the past three months was awful, but God wonderfully provided us with strength for every emergency. Not once did we have to go to bed, except when I took quinine the last week, and I was in bed two days.

Will have lots to tell you when we get home. Do not know what address to give you. If you should write here please put it in care of W. W. Peet, Bible House, Constantinople.

Have not had a letter from you since the middle of January. That was the date of your last letter. Suppose a lot of mail is piled up somewhere. We wrote a few letters and sent you

Constable Sick should start in on a dog catching round up and if the licenses for these dogs have not been paid they should be put out of business. Anyway, the chickens should be held responsible for the damage done.

It is quiet here in Constantinople as the Allies have control here and there are none of the brigand party here.

The French were badly beaten everywhere, so they left Hadjin to his own fate, and the poor diademes are still holding out expecting help. It is heart-breaking. We just have to try to forget it all since we can do nothing now to help. We have not had our support since the end of December. We got it for January, February and March and sent it to the bank, but had not received the money yet when the road was closed. We borrowed money from the Relief and have cabled today to Bro. Yoder for money. We are comfortable here and hope to rest up a bit as we are badly in need of it. Will close now.
